CRISIS IN SUGAR

Darker and Darker Grows the Great National Scandal.

New York Press.

The Senate sugar investigation has reached a crisis. The three principal charges in The Press exposure of May 14th have been proved. These are: First—That the Sugar Trust contributed large sums of money to the Democratic campaign fund of 1892. Second—That the Trust absolutely controlled a sufficient number of Democratic Senators to compel the adoption of a sugar schedule, which allowed the Trust a free gift of from $40,000,000 to $80,000,000 at the expense of the people. Third—That the Administration consented to this great public wrong to the extent at least that Secretary Carlisle personally wrote the Sugar Trust schedule, and that he did not write any one of the seven hundred or more other schedules of the Tariff bill. These facts have been proved by Secretary Carlisle, by President Havemeyer and Secretary Searles of the Sugar Trust and by Senators Jones and Vest of the Senate Finance Committee, under oath.

WHERE DEMOCRATS FEAR TO TREAD.

Here the committee rests and splits. The writer of The Press exposure of May 14th, Mr. Edwards, is to be indicted by the Grand Jury tomorrow for legal contempt of the Senate in refusing to divulge the sources of the information which the Senate Committee has already investigated and partially verified. The other details, but all important ones, as to the speculation in sugar stocks by U. S. Senators, to the amounts of the campaign subscription of the Sugar Trust, and as to the mysterious pool of 20,000 shares of Sugar stock which Terrill, the agent of the Sugar Trust in Washington, testified that he managed while the Sugar schedule was in process of formation—these and other essential facts the Senate Investigating Committee has not made any strenuous efforts to bring out.

Today the committee agreed to hand President Havemeyer and Secretary Searles over to the District Attorney for indictment with the correspondents, for refusing to answer vital questions. Today the same mysterious powers which forced the Sugar schedule through the Senate without a visible clamor, without a single voice raised in its defense, is holding back the indictments of Havemeyer and Searles with the explanation to the public that Senators Lodge and Davis, Republicans, and Allen, Populist, want the Sugar Kings indicted, while the Democratic Senators, Gray and Lindsay, do not. It is announced that the split in the committee cannot be healed, and that two Democrats (one of them Secretary Carlisle's successor in the Senate) are to prepare a minority report declaring that the questions which Havemeyer and Searles refused to answer were "not pertinent to the committee's inquiry," and that they ought not to be prosecuted.

AMAZED AT GRAY AND LINDSAY.

The tremendous power of the Trust is thus again manifested. A malign party influence so irresistible as to overawe the proud and honorable Gray and the able and discreet Lindsay is viewed with amazement even in Washington, and everyone is asking tonight what the outcome of the dark scandal will be.

The payments of the Sugar Trust in the late Presidential campaign secured the mortgage which it has since foreclosed at Washington. And the Democratic Senators are tonight at work preparing a minority report, in which they declare that the Senate Investigating Committee has no right to inquire into those payments. The crisis which makes this minority report necessary is perhaps more serious than the public imagines. No Democrat can be found tonight who defends it. No one ventures even to explain it. What is the power that compels the two Democratic Senators to sign it, to declare opinions which they cannot hold, and all to protect Messrs. Havemeyer and Searles from the temporary embarrassment of pleading before the bar of justice, and, at the very worst, suffering a luxurious confinement of thirty days in the District Jail, surrounded by all the comforts which their money could buy? That is what punishment for contempt of the Senate probably means, even if the law is found to be constitutional, which few believe.

HAVEMEYER'S STARTLING THREAT.

It has never been tested. It is reported in Washington tonight around telegraph headquarters that President Havemeyer has said that if the Senate Committee hands him over to the District Attorney he will make Rome howl, and that the whole country will shake under the revelations that will follow. Mr. Havemeyer's imperious temper and strong will make such a threat possible, but there is a stronger power than mere threats in the air here, and it is exerted to the utmost to conceal every fact connected with the history of the sugar schedule. This power has existed at least two employees of the Senate; it has put seals on the lips of those who only two months ago talked freely of the messages to buy and sell stocks which they executed; it has brought to one telegraph operator in the Capital a message from one of the highest officers of the Government, who appointed him: "Keep your lips closed, and if called as a witness to talk not at all." This eminent officer of the Government is not fearful that any guilty secret of his own shall leak out, for he is not believed to be in the sugar deal, but he is on tenter hooks lest the private transactions of some others shall be revealed.

MAKE THEM WELL

One True Medicine For Lost Nervous Strength.

There is one true specific for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system and that is Paine's Celery Compound, so generally prescribed by physicians. It is probably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Professor Edward E. Phelps, M.D., LL.D., of Dartmouth College first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's Celery Compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism and kidney troubles. For the latter Paine's Celery Compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

SUDDEN SUMMONS.

Miss Lily A. Hull Dies at Poplar Flat Yesterday.

Miss Lily A. Hull, aged 20 years, daughter of the late Elder Frank H. Hull, died at the residence of her mother on Poplar Flat yesterday at 8 p. m.

The deceased had been complaining for some time, but was able to visit her father's grave at the East Fork on last Sunday.

She was sitting in a rocking chair conversing with her uncle, James McCormack, when suddenly she fell to the floor.

Dr. J. F. Irvine of Tollesboro was hastily summoned only to find life extinct when he arrived.

The deceased was the only daughter, and the oldest child in the family, a highly accomplished and a very amiable young lady.

A committee of physicians examined L. P. and William Deatley, the Owingsville murderers, and concluded that they were only feigning insanity.

Charles S. Calvert, owner of the Mt. Carmel Bus line, and Miss Nannie Glascock of Mt. Carmel were married at the Central Hotel last evening by Judge Phister. Mr. Calvert is a prosperous citizen, and the bride a most charming lady, daughter of Colonel D. A. Glascock of Mt. Carmel.

Dr. John A. Reed.

Dr. John A. Reed has removed his office and residence, and can now be found at the residence, Northwest corner of Third and Sutton, formerly occupied by Mrs. A. Finch.

Sunday Excursions to Cincinnati.

Commencing Sunday, June 24th, the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway will sell round trip tickets to Cincinnati, good going on train No. 17 and returning on train No. 4, leaving Cincinnati at 7 p. m., at $1.35 from Maysville for the round trip, giving ample time to visit the Zoological Garden, baseball games, and other attractions in Cincinnati.

Marie Decca's Divorce Case.

The equity suit of Mme. Marie Decca vs. her husband, Francis Leon Chrisman, which has been pending at Harrisburg, Pa., for over a year is at last concluded. The Judge rendered a decision in favor of the defendant. It was alleged by the plaintiff that the residence known as Villa Decca at Harrisburg was purchased with her money, and that the deed was executed in Chrisman's name without her knowledge or consent.

The Judge finds, however, that Chrisman owes his wife $950, which amount she gave him to meet payment on the property. Decca and her husband separated about a year ago, hence the suit for the property.

MAYSVILLE WEATHER.

What We May Expect For the Next Twenty-four Hours.

THE LEDGER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.

White streamer—FAIR;
Blue—RAIN or SNOW;
With Black ABOVE—TWO WARMER
GROW.
If Black's BENEATH—COLDER it will be;
Unless Black's shown—no change
we'll see.

The above forecasts are made for a period of thirty-six hours, ending at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening.

IN CHURCH.

Across the aisle I see her kneel,
While her pure thought to heaven wings;
There is no sign upon her brow
Of worldly care or temporal things.

But I am sure she would not kneel
Quite so demurely if she knew
The sunlight through the painted glass
Had dyed her features green and blue.

IT IS A SURE GO!

All the Stock Subscribed For the Shoe Factory.

Hip,
Hooray!
Who'dathunkit?

The millenium must be somewhere around this neighborhood after all.

THE LEDGER was informed late yesterday afternoon that the desired amount of stock had been subscribed and that the Shoe Factory was now a fixed fact.

The Lord be praised!

If this enterprise is the success that its projectors think it will be, it may induce some more of our moneyed men to put capital into other manufacturing concerns.

There's no better point on the Ohio river than Maysville.

No place has better transportation facilities.

There's no pleasanter place to live.

There's no better community anywhere.

We have good government, good schools, water-works, electric railway from "end to end"—

We have everything, in fact, except the right sort of enterprise.

Now let's get that and be happy.

YOU DON'T SAY SO!

Our Punctilious Neighbor Starts on a Correcting Tour.

The Bulletin has quit the Tariff discussion and gone to splitting hairs.

It devotes nearly half a column to show that the colored man drowned at Springdale was not knocked overboard by the swinging stageplank;

That he was not blown overboard;

That he didn't fall overboard while carrying freight;

But that its own account, which was that he "fell overboard" in the plainest possible manner, was the only absolutely and undeniably correct report of the catastrophe.

Well, while on the subject of correct reporting, how is this, purporting to give an account of an occurrence which took place within two hundred yards of The Bulletin office, and not nine or ten miles away:

P. Smith, W. Keizer and Wm. Thomas (or McDonald) were arrested yesterday afternoon on information from the Cincinnati authorities. The trio were from the Newsboys' Home, and were out on a begging expedition. Officers came up from Cincinnati last evening and took the boys back to that city.—Yesterday's Bulletin.

The names may or may not be right; at least two of them are not as given to THE LEDGER by the boys themselves.

They were not arrested on information from the Cincinnati "authorities," but at the request of a private individual.

Officers did not come up from Cincinnati.

And the boys were not taken back to that city.

Barring these few incongruities The Bulletin's item is correct.

Photographs of the Drill Corps of the Masonic Widows and Orphans Home can be seen at W. C. Miner's, E. A. Robinson's and John Ballenger's.

Subscribers to stock in the shoe factory are requested to meet at Duley & Baldwin's office, Court street, at 7:30 this evening for the purpose of organizing and electing officers.
